

Chris, James & Cleo: responsible pet owners

Animals
give us daily
companionship
and support.

We care for them.

Chris, James and Cleo get together almost every day. After school, Chris spends time with his granddad who helps him out with his school work. However, very recently James got a companion: Cleo, the goldfish.

The already strong bond between grandson and granddad became even stronger thanks to Cleo, as Chris helps his granddad look after the fish. Together they plan on visiting a pet shop to buy a decent-sized aquarium for Cleo, top-up his food supply and maybe even get him some more friends. Having Cleo has helped James by being a companion to him when Chris is at school or playing with his friends; it gives him a sense of responsibility to look after the fish and it gives him that extra bond when Chris is over.
